THOUSANDS RESIST THE GLOBAL ELITE AT THE WORLD ECONOMIC FORUM

Political and economical heavyweights came together behind closed doors in Davos, Switzerland from 26-30th of January for the World Economic Forum (WEF), to give a "social label" to the capitalist globalization. Before and throughout the WEF meetings, actions, demonstrations, and counter forums were held against the summit by an anti-WEF-coalition made up of various groups from both France, Germany and Switzerland. Saturday 15th of January 2005, the first demonstration took place in Winterthur, Switzerland, where about 400 people took part. Another 400 people voiced their resistance in Chur and Adelsberg. In Aarau a creative action happened, whilst in Thun a political flashmob confused passers-by, leading to spontaneous protest. In Heiden, an attack against the UBS, a giant bank consortium, occurred while in Zurich, an anti-repression group burnt down a training camp for anti-terrorist units in protest against the WEF security preparations. In Bern, the education collective "Tour de Lorraine", educated with films, theatre and gigs throughout the week. Various protests happened during the week in Berna, Davos, Lugano and Basilea. On Saturday 22 January a day of Decentralised Creative Actions was called against the WEF summit. Around 1.500 people took part in a series of civil disobedience actions. At the same time, there was a solidarity action in Oxford. Although the demonstration in Winterthur was peaceful, despite of neo-nazi's provoking, the huge mass demonstration planned for the 22nd of January against the WEF, was prohibited by a court decision. The Anti-WEF-coordination wanted to protest against social cuts, salary dumping, privatisation, institutional racism and war. The network called for decentralised actions instead. Many restrictions were opposed on the actions, a playful street party was forbidden in Bern. The repression and some of the police violence triggered protest in parliament. 250 activists were forbidden to enter the country and even the army had 6500 soldiers on standby. In the last week more actions happened in and around Davos, including an authorized manifestation in Davos on January 29.

FINANCIAL G7 LEADERS RECIEVE A NOISEY WELCOME!

The first of the G7 meetings leading up to the G8 Summit took place in London over February 4th/5th in the form of the G7 Financial Ministerial. The Financial G7 brings together the central bank governors and finance ministers of the seven richest countries in the world. Activists from Dissent! were there to greet them. The Financial G7 met for a fancy dinner at Lancaster House, but had their meal ruined by the commotion of samba drumming and shouting from people on the outside. Make Poverty History campaigners protested from the confines of a fenced-off pen, whilst Rhythms of Resistance blocked the exit, and along with 20 - 30 other activists, made sure their presence was felt. Noisy support from a pizza delivery driver topped the demo off! There was heavy policing, with FIT team harassment continuing from beginning to end. Activists who refused to enter the pen were followed and verbally harassed, whilst others were stopped and searched. Despite the short notice of the event (and thanks in no small part to the drummers) the finance ministers and bankers didn't get to enjoy their dinner in peace. Yet this was only the first of the G7 Ministerials, which mark the countdown to the G8 Summit in July, and as the Summit gets closer our resistance to these meetings must get stronger - lets shut them down!

GET IN TRAINING FOR THE G8

Local groups and networks can ask for training/workshops on specific subjects from the Dissent! training group by emailing actiontraining@linuxmail.org Workshops provided range from direct action training, preparing for action, strategy and tactics, blockading and other action techniques, legal, affinity groups to quick decision making on actions and more. To increase the number of action trainers, three G8 Direct Action Trainers workshops are being organised, in Sheffield, Glasgow and London. More info at www.skillsharing.org.uk. There is also more info on the Dissent website www.dissent.org.uk under 'Training.'

Dissent is a new network, created to build a mobilisation against the G8. The network is based on the Peoples' Global Action Hallmarks, rooted in local and autonomous organising and action, and aims to go beyond the G8. The PGA is a decentralised, non-heirachical, global network of social movements, for a copy of the hallmarks visit www.agp.org

WORLD SOCIAL FORUM PORTO ALEGRE 2005

Individuals involved in the Dissent! network took part in the Caracol - (the autonomous space during the WSF) hosting two meetings that brought together people mobilizing against the IMF and World Bank, WTO, G8 and FTAA. The meetings aimed to reflect on past mobilizations and lessons that we had learned, find different strategies of resistance and develop practical and concrete tools to support the different mobilizations in 2005.

GLOBAL RESISTANCE 2005: A CALL TO ACTION

This call is a result of converging at the International youth camp at the 5th World Social Forum of people involved in building resistance to the meetings of the global elite. It is a call for people to support and participate in the mobilizations. To show both political and practical solidarity with those actively resisting the summits, and to organise, and take part in actions coinciding with these events in villages, towns and cities worldwide. Moreover, it is a call for this resistance and these expressions of solidarity to co-ordinate and co-operate amongst themselves, to open up spaces in which we can learn from one another, from our differences as much as our commonalities. Let 2005 be the year in which our resistance becomes truly global! IMF/World Bank - April 16th Washington G8 - July 2nd-8th - Scotland FTAA, November, Argentina WTO, December, Hong Kong

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

International Co-ordination meeting
Over the last 18 months an international network has been emerging to co-ordinate action against the G8 in 2005.

Across Europe and further a field, individuals, groups and networks have been producing their own anti-G8 materials, building links with groups locally, organising benefit parties and discussing what they want their role to be in the mobilisation. On 26th -27th February in Southern Germany there will be a meeting to co-ordinate these groups mobilising against the G8.

Kom in actie!

People from all around Holland have started to meet up on a regular basis to create a solid basis for action in Scotland. To inform and inspire, they are planning several info nights, action-planning evenings and activist training days. For more information mail to: infoq8@squat.net

Mondialisons la Resistance!

"Collectif des resistances" in Lyon are organising a week of resistance against the G8 in May 2005.

Achtung Gipfel!

A large network has formed in Germany, Austria and Switzerland including groups and people from 30 different cities, who want to work together against the G8 in 2005, and on towards the G8 in 2007 when it comes to Germany. Information gatherings have been held in three cities, as well as a big fundraising party. They are planning an info-tour in March/April.

POLICE TO STAND TRIAL OVER AUBONNE BRIDGE ACTION

The Aubonne-Bridge Action against the G8 in 2003, in which two activists, Martin Shaw and Gesine Wenzel, nearly lost their lives as the police cut their climbing rope, has entered an exciting new phase. The High Court has accepted their appeal. It had been previously ruled that the police were not to be charged declaring that the incident was produced by the activists' own temerity. The highest ranking officer, and the officer who cut the rope will now be sent to trial under the accusation of simple and severe bodily harm with negligence.

The activists remain skeptical. "While we are very happy about this decision, we have deep concerns that the judicial system really wants to find out the truth," said Martin Shaw. Gesine Wenzel says "There is a definite refusal to find out about the implications of the hierarchy. They aim to consider the two accused policemen as the black sheep and the incident as an accident. But if one really wants to avoid such dramas, the entire system of police intervention and internal organization has to be looked at."

29 parliamentarians from different parties are openly supporting the activists case. The climbers who have suffered severe physical and emotional injuries have received no compensation, whilst considerable amounts have been awarded to shop-owners whose windows were destroyed during the protests. "This shows how the state protects property over people's lives", concluded the activists. "The decision of tribunal is a first step. But it is important to remember that this is absolutely exceptional and that most complaints about police violence remain uninvestigated and never lead to prosecution."

POLICE TO STAND TRIAL OVER VIOLENCE AT G8 SUMMIT IN GENOA

Italian police accused of violence during a raid against protesters at the G8 summit in Genoa in 2001 must stand trial, a judge has ruled. The trial should start on 6 April 2005. Twenty-eight Italian police officers have been charged with lying, slander and the intent to seriously injure Anticapitalists at a school in Genoa which they were using as a base during the 2001 G8 in Genoa, Italy.

The summit was marred by violence. One protester was killed and hundreds of police and demonstrators were injured. Protesters based at the Diaz school alleged that they had been attacked and beaten in their sleep during the raid. Police chiefs claimed they had acted on a tip-off that activists planning violent protests were hiding in the school.

Almost 100 people were arrested in the raid on the school and taken to a barracks, where it has been alleged that they were beaten and abused by police. On Monday, Judge Daniela Faraggi confirmed that 28 police face trial in connection with the raid, which was a key flashpoint during a violent weekend.

EDINBURGH RESHAPE!

Edinburgh Reshape! meets every two weeks to discuss the G8. We sent people to the G8 Alternatives meeting in Stirling and set-up a teach-in at Stirling University. We are holding benefit gigs and have been busy networking, searching for convergence spaces, and making propaganda. For more information: www.reshape.org.uk.

WAKE UP AND SMELL THE GREENWASH

Last year the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change announced that by 2050 'a million species could face extinction'. In the same year Tony Blair publicly announced that cutting carbon dioxide emissions was 'essential to 'avert disaster'' yet recently leaked documents reveal that the UK government was simultaneously attempting 'to remove targets that would reduce carbon dioxide emissions during high-level meetings to formulate Europe's climate policy' (The Independent, 16.01.05). IT'S A SHAM, a facade, an act, a rip-off, a con, a trick ... Tony Blair is the Greenwash Guru, arguing that market environmentalism and the Kyoto Protocol will save the day. A Protocol, lets remember, which is not only a flawed method of reducing CO2 emissions but involves turning the atmosphere into a giant commodity to be bought and sold like barrels of oil by traders, governments and corporations, further deepening the world's already gaping imbalances of power and not even effectively reducing emissions into the bargain!

A more realistic picture of Tony goes something like this ... he pedals a government that annually invests £40 million into research projects that are of direct benefit to the fossil fuel industry, has recently given the green light to a 5.5 billion road building programme, the biggest for two decades and his own Environment Agency has invested 64 million in oil firms [BP and Shell] that have been condemned for contributing to flooding and climate change' (The Independent, 07.01.03).

At the 2005 G8 summit we can unite in our opposition to climate chaos and the capitalist system creating it, our commitment to direct action and civil disobedience as the most effective form of struggle. Not only that, we can build a European Climate Justice Network that can look beyond the G8 Summit and Blair's 'leadership' of the EU and begin to challenge the global capitalist system, which has led us to the brink of climate chaos on a scale never before seen by human eyes. Solutions to this problem will not come from career path politicians or oil executives but from the bottom up, from the grassroots, from us.

ANTI-MILITARIST BLOCKADE OF FASLANE - 4 JULY

Why: The rich countries of the world depend on their overwhelming military might to defend and extend the globalisation that allows them to exploit and oppress the poor. Nuclear weapons are the ultimate expression of the militarisation that makes economic globalisation possible.

How: Up to you. We are asking people to respect the non-violence and safety guidelines *on this action* - these are fundamental to some of the groups behind both the initial call and recent successful blockades at Faslane. Within that: blockade, cut in, dance, mourn, swim, use your imagination!

Where: Faslane Naval Base (near Glasgow). Home to all Britain's nuclear (and many non-nuclear) weapons.

When: Monday 4 July (early!)

WORKING GROUP AGAINST WORK

This new working group in Dissent! is also part of an international network of unwaged struggles and resistance to low-paid, insecure work. We aim to take action that comes out of our day-to-day struggles over work, housing and state-imposed punishments for not working.

There are many targets in Scotland. Diageo, owners of Gleneagles, runs a New Deal scheme called Tomorrow's People. We can 'visit' bailiffs and firms raking in profits from peoples' debts: employment agencies, firms & organisations involved with the New Deal and the benefits regime. Actions could include piquetero-style roadblocks, free shops, occupations, disruptive parties at shopping centres and job centres ('make employment zones enjoyment zones'). contact: dissentagainstwork@yahoo.co.uk

A CELEBRATION OF THE RIGHT TO ROAM: WALKING IN THE OCHIL HILLS

While the G8 leaders meet in the Gleneagles hotel, we will be looking at them from above on the Ochil hills, and laughing at them, with a big day-glow banner. Please do join us, comrades, for friendly encounters on the hills. Let the hills be a weapon free zone. There will be several organised walks in the Ochil Hills in the run up to the G8 Summit at Gleneagles for people to get familiar with the landscape and to meet other walkers! Walks are happening every weekend from spring equinox onwards. Also we hope to test out and learn various communications methods on the hills, from using simple whistles, to morse code with flash lights.

BLOCKADE THE G8!

The G8 are the group at the heart of the corporate Globalization, co-ordinating a neo-liberal assault on our livelihoods, public services, jobs, wages and environment. They make promises on seeking real solutions to the world's problems, but in reality have failed to deliver in making any progressive changes. Examples of this are their inability to cancel debts owed by the world's most poorest nations, or implement the Kyoto agreement to reduce greenhouse omissions that are killing our planet.

The reason for this is that the G8 are not a body that can be negotiated with as their main interest is to protect and promote free trade in all its forms, encouraging maximum profiteering from the sale of goods, service, crops, and intellectual property. Any pressure to change the G8 will come externally from maximum militancy, organizing against them so as to expose their real agenda by discrediting it. We need to confront the G8 by disrupting their secret meeting; this can be achieved by blockading the summit when it starts on the Wednesday 6th July.

While we should support all protests against the G8 and what it stands for, we support the call for blockading the summit on Wednesday the 6th July and agree to mobilize to build this action as large as possible.

TRAPESE

The Trapeze roadshow has done over 50 events around the country since September. "informing and mobilizing around the issues behind the G8." The majority have been workshops introducing the G8 and how it came to exist as such a powerful institution. We also look at the issues that will be making the headlines. (debt/Africa and climate change) and discuss people's views on these topics, as well as looking at the plans for the mobilisation this summer and brainstorming ideas for actions. One of the most positive things that has come out has been bringing people together who want to be active against the G8. We are planning to do a tour during the spring if there is demand for it, widening the cross-section of people who come to our talks. We are looking for local groups/individuals to publicise events, and inviting other groups along (anti war groups, local FOE etc.) We will put on an evening performance with the Schnews crew, "Have I got Schnews for you" style. Let us know if there is a theatre, independent cinema or festival local to you where we could do workshops, trainings or benefits. If you came to an event and you have constructive criticisms/ideas please let us know. All our resources are available on our new website www.trapeze.org, check it out. So its really easy -why not get out there a do a g8 workshop yourself?

From London and Seattle to Prague, Gothenburg, Evian, Cancun and beyond, mobilisations against international summits have succeeded in putting anti-capitalism back on the agenda. 'Days of Dissent' is a collection of voices from within these mobilisations. Each article is written by people who were directly involved. They attempt to explain why movements decided to mobilise, how they went about doing so, how the events unfolded and - most importantly of all - they attempt to assess what lessons can be learned. It is important that we attempt to learn from our collective history, from our mistakes as well as our successes. 'Days of Dissent' is one contribution towards this process of reflection. Its aim is to provide inspiration for action.

To order copies send blank cheques, postal orders or well hidden cash to: Days of Dissent Magazine, Box 8, 245 Gladstone Street, Nottingham, NG7 6HX.

For each copy send 1.50 plus 50p for postage and packaging. For orders outside of the UK add a further 50p for postage. Equivalent amounts in other currencies also accepted. For bulk orders, discounts, review copies or enquiries, email the editors at: daysofdissent@yahoo.co.uk

The PGA Hallmarks

- 1) A very clear rejection of capitalism, imperialism and feudalism: all trade agreements, institutions and governments that promote destructive globalisation.
